TPD to host public input sessions on police training practices

TOPEKA, Kan. – The Topeka Police Department (TPD) will host two public input sessions in September to allow community members to learn more about the department's training practices, and to provide individuals with the opportunity to give input.

At the sessions, TPD's Training staff will present the current curriculum for the Basic Police Training Academy, as well as continuing education for veteran officers.

After the presentation, community members will be able to provide public comment and ask questions, with a limit of four minutes per person.

Public Input Sessions

Wednesday, September 14, 2022

6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.

Washburn Tech East, 2014 SE Washington St.

Thursday, September 22, 2022

6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.

Washburn University, 1700 SE College Ave., Henderson Room 112

The public input sessions aim to fulfill one of the recommendations listed in the Police and Community Special Committee's report that Topeka's Governing Body approved in July.

The sessions will be recorded and later uploaded to the City's YouTube page.

- Focuses on Highest Risk Youth
- Building a Safe Community

H O W

S.A.V.E. works directly with youth and their families to prevent violence.

At-risk youth are identified through community and school partnerships.

Referred youth and their families are provided with both short-term and long-term resources and assistance.

IMPACT

"Knowing that there is someone there that I can talk to that won't judge my situation or what has happened in my past has changed my way of thinking. Before the S.A.V.E. Program, I would have made decisions that would have ended up with me behind bars, and because of this program I think before I react and know that I have people out there that care about me and want me to be successful in life."

MEDIA RELEASE

Shawnee County Health Department Awarded National Accreditation Through the Public Health Accreditation Board

Topeka, Kan. – The Shawnee County Health Department (SCHD) has been notified that it has been awarded national accreditation through the Public Health Accreditation Board (PHAB). PHAB is a nonprofit organization that administers a rigorous national accreditation program which has local health departments across the nation demonstrate how they promote and protect the health of the communities they serve. PHAB's mission is to advance and transform public health practice by championing performance improvement, strong infrastructure and innovation.

“We are extremely honored to be recognized by the Public Health Accreditation Board for the amazing work our team does ensuring that Shawnee County is the best place to live, work and play,” said Teresa Fisher, Director of the SCHD. “Becoming accredited is evidence of the continual excellence of our department and I am especially proud of our staff for the time and effort they put in every day. It is because of them that we are able to offer quality and essential public health services to our community.”

The national accreditation program, jointly supported by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, sets standards against which the nation’s more than 3,000 governmental public health departments can continuously improve the quality of their services and performance. To receive accreditation, a health department must undergo a rigorous, multi-faceted, peer reviewed assessment process to ensure it meets or exceeds a set of quality standards and measures.

“Whenever you see our seal of accreditation, you will know that the Shawnee County Health Department has been rigorously examined and meets or exceeds national standards that promote continuous quality improvement for public health,” Fisher said. “By continuing to improve our services and performance, we can be sure we are meeting the public health needs of those we serve as effectively as possible.”

The SCHD becomes one of more than 300 health departments across the United States accredited by PHAB; including, one of seven county health departments in Kansas (Douglas, Johnson, Reno, Riley, Sedgwick and Wyandotte) to achieve national accreditation along with the Kansas Department of Health and Environment and the Fort Riley Department of Public Health.

Public health departments play a critical role in protecting and improving the health of people and communities. In cities, towns, and states across the nation, health departments provide a range of services aimed at promoting healthy behaviors; preventing diseases and injuries; ensuring access to safe food, water, clean air, and life-saving immunizations; and preparing for and responding to public health emergencies.

“The Shawnee County Health Department joins the growing ranks of accredited health departments in a strong commitment to their public health mission,” said PHAB President and CEO Kaye Bender, PhD, RN, FAAN. “The peer-review process provides valuable feedback to inform health departments of their strengths and areas for improvement, so that they can better protect and promote the health of the people they serve in their communities. Residents of a community served by a nationally accredited health department can be assured that their health department has demonstrated the capacity to protect and promote the health of that community.”
