Subject: We Together: A Communication of Stormont Vail Health – Feb. 15, 2024

This message originated from outside your organization

Feb. 15, 2024

Dear Community Partners,

Our hearts hurt.

One death, more than 20 injured in Kansas City. Countless others deeply impacted, including law enforcement, first responders and healthcare teams who provided aid and comfort.

Lives forever changed.

A day of celebration. The Kansas City Chiefs' Super Bowl rally. A day to show love – love for a team, a city, for each other. Valentine's Day.

It was our day in the Heartland, sharing and caring, loving and celebrating the good in life.

Then it was marred by a senseless mass shooting.

Let us support each other, especially the patients and families, the healthcare teams of Children's Mercy Kansas City, St. Luke's Hospital, and University Health Truman Medical Center, the first responders and others who responded to and cared for those needing care. Caring for communities is what we do, but we also need to care for each other.

We together.

Here are today's updates:

- Walk with a Doc This Saturday – With Nikhil Mehta, M.D.
- "To Your Health" on WIBW-TV Tonight – With Bashar Amr, M.D.
- Congratulations, Tammy Barber, January Person of the Moment

Walk with A Doc this Saturday – With Nikhil Mehta, M.D.

Join Nikhil Mehta, M.D., cardiologist, at our upcoming Walk with a Doc this Saturday, Feb. 17, at 9 a.m. on the east side of Lee Arena at Washburn University. You are invited to wear red and listen to Dr. Mehta provide a brief talk about heart health before the walk. You don't need to register for this free event, just come ready to walk and with lots of questions.

"To Your Health" on WIBW-TV Tonight – With Bashar Amr, M.D.

To recognize the importance of February as Heart Month, Bashar Amr, M.D., cardiologist, will share information about heart attack symptoms and why younger patients should also be aware of the warning signs on tonight's WIBW "To Your Health." The segment will air at 10 p.m. on WIBW-TV, Channel 13. The segment will typically repeat at 5 a.m. and 6 a.m. Fridays on 13 News This Morning and be posted on wibw.com.

Congratulations, Tammy Barber, January Person of the Moment

Better blood draws (and consequently, results) happen when patients feel comfortable and relaxed – something that's easier said than done. For this reason, the best phlebotomists have the expertise and empathy to put patients at ease, especially during moments of intense vulnerability or distress.

That's where phlebotomists like Tammy Barber shine. With her listening ear, comforting words, and genuine empathy, Tammy regularly makes a difference for patients in every moment – not just those that matter most. For this reason, we proudly recognize Tammy as January Person of the Moment.

Take a moment to recognize Tammy and read her story.

We together,
